Rules are not setup on a per mailbox basis Rules act automatically on the inbox when mail arrives, or they can be run manually, but you don't set up a rule for a Mailbox.. You can name a rule anything you want The Mailboxes are actual email accounts Depending on the type of email account, the emails in those may exist solely on your mac or on both the server and your mac.. What you may have, based on your description, is particular rules that move emails to those mailboxes.
